

SYNCHRONIZED HUMANITY TOUR

Collective Healing Events

with Thomas Hübl

How would it be if all the people in the world would have a common vision? If we would meet and appreciate each other as partners in the development of humanity to its highest and most beautiful potential? Nobody consciously chooses war, poverty or environmental pollution. Is it not our deepest desire to let the global village on this planet grow into a well-functioning, sustainable community, a supportive and mutually nourishing family? Just imagine what would be possible if this would become true?

Healing Event Berlin, May 24th 2008

I. SYNCHRONIZED HUMANITY TOUR

There is a phenomenon that has been noticed and explored more and more during the last few years, the so-called collective intelligence. As soon as a group of people reaches a certain level of coherence and synchronization, a higher level of order, wisdom and creativity emerges. In other words, if and when individual people tune into each other—if they step back from the level of their personality to focus on a common goal—a vision of the future or something in the present moment, something special or extraordinary, happens: the group becomes an antenna for a higher intelligence that is way beyond that of the intelligence of each individual person. A huge potential suddenly appears in the space between us. Who has not experienced this before? A team that rises to unexpected heights; in sports, in dance, in a company.... The abilities of the individual person grow exponentially. Everything seems to flow together in an optimum way. The system starts to organise itself to serve the whole system.

So far these have been occasional peak experiences of some groups. What if this phenomenon would expand more and more and we as humanity would have access to this higher wisdom and higher levels of consciousness? What kind of a world would that be, in which the sum total of our actions would not be directed against the Earth, but would be in tune with the needs of everybody?

Most people want exactly this. Why are we then, in spite of this, creating a world the way it is today? Is it because the majority of our wishes and motives are too short-sighted and egocentric? Our individual perspective is limited and consists of only a tiny part of the whole. Nevertheless, we consider our truth to be the only valid truth and we think we are the centre of the universe. It is not always easy to let go of the focus on our personal wellbeing, our wishes and anxieties, to expand to a common Us.

In order to stabilise the phenomenon of synchronisation in a larger context, a stronger interlinking of our perspectives will be helpful. The more we understand each other, the more we allow other people's perception or interpretation of reality besides our own and are able to integrate it, the higher will be the intelligence that emerges. The key to this precious space between us is our readiness to get involved with each other, to meet in an authentic and open way, to feel more deeply and perceive each other more consciously.

The Global Awareness Association e.V. has been set up as a not-for-profit organisation with the goal to initiate projects and events that explore and further this new quality of connectedness within the framework of the Synchronised Humanity Tour. At the same time we want to use the concentrated power of synchronised fields of consciousness for healing and integration.

II. COLLECTIVE HEALING EVENTS

While we aim to bring more compassion, wisdom, creativity and joy into our lives, we are learning to transcend narrow perspectives and open up to larger views and higher levels of understanding. We are learning to accept all aspects of ourselves. As long as we are rejecting or disown certain aspects, our focus unconsciously remains attached to them. This is not only true for individuals, but also for a group.

In order to connect with higher perspectives and the needs of more people, it is helpful to clarify the shadows in our individual and collective consciousness. This is the intention of the Collective Healing Events, the first series of events within the framework of the Synchronised Humanity Tour.

Healing Meditations with a large number of people are planned for the collective field of consciousness in Germany and worldwide on different collective themes.

The Healing Meditations will take place in cooperation with Thomas Hübl, a researcher of consciousness who offers workshops, toning sessions and training worldwide. In his work he leads people into the Presence, the Truth and the depth of each moment. He encourages people to look behind that which is well-known and to let go of the limiting concepts of the "I". He is the co-founder and leader of the Academy of Inner Science (www.innerscience.info).

The theme: The Second World War

The first theme for the Healing Meditations in Germany will be the Second World War. Like no other historical event, this traumatic experience of the recent past is still present in the shadow of the collective consciousness of the German people. There has been a lot of pain and destruction, experienced both by the victims as well as by the perpetrators. This disaster is also an example of the dark side of the collective forces. It shows what can happen if the masses are blindly uniting and destructive forces are released. Although a lot has been worked through already, in view of the large scale of the disaster the suppressed emotions still have an effect even three generations later.

A general distrust of big common visions of the future, of megalomania, spiritual deception and misuse of power seems to be in the bones of people. As a reaction to the big German dream that turned into a nightmare, this is understandable. But it could also have led to the fact that we, the German people, are holding back and limiting our creative, intelligent and compassionate power and the possibilities that are available to us individually and collectively. Are there levels where our unconscious collective focus is still tuned to this traumatic experience? Has this focus become so normal to us that we are not noticing its effect?

What can be the effect of a healing meditation?

If we can lift the painful collective experiences and emotions that were separated from our consciousness back into conscious awareness, then healing and integration can happen. A group of people reconnecting with the past situation can now contribute something that was not possible when the trauma happened: conscious feeling. Thus the suppressed emotions in the collective field of the place where the trauma happened can be transformed with the help of the higher levels of consciousness that are invited in and activated by a synchronised group field. The bigger and clearer that the group is in its intention and compassionate presence, the stronger is the healing effect.

The more we are able to accept and integrate this dark experience consciously, clearly and collectively, the more we will be able as a nation to contribute to the important global questions concerning the future. Our understanding of what it means to be a human being will deepen. The quality that we need to accomplish integration is the same quality that the experience of the Second World War teaches us: true compassion.

Thus, the depth of feeling and compassion that is created during this healing meditation is an essential part of the experience, which each individual can take away with them. If we recognize that compassion and depth are always in us, an opening towards our true essence will happen. It is also a touching experience, consciously to contribute in creating the common basis of our life. We are offering our aware, feeling presence to allow more joy and creativity to happen among ourselves.

- In September 2007, the first Healing meditation on the theme of the Second World War took place in Fontane House in Berlin, with 600 participants.
- On February 15th 2008, the second meditation took place in Cologne; an evening event with approx. 200 people.
- A big, day-long event with a meditation and an additional programme for the collective field of Berlin is currently being prepared to take place on May 24th 2008.
- Further Healing meditations are also envisioned in other countries, such as in Poland. In Israel, especially in Jerusalem, we are also planning events on the theme of the Second World War.

III. THE HEALING EVENT FOR BERLIN

On May the 24th 2008, the next big Healing Event will take place as an all-day event at the Freie Universität Berlin Dahlem. The event is planned for approx. 1,000 participants, with free entrance. The main part of the event is a meditation led by Thomas Hübl on the theme of the Second World War for the field of consciousness in Berlin. We will prepare for the meditation through short talks, sharing of experiences and the so-called World-Café method.

Why a Healing Event for Berlin?

Berlin plays a central part in geographical and historical terms. It is at the intersection between East and West, in the heart of Europe, and it was the Headquarter of the national-socialist megalomania. Of the 160,000 Jewish people who lived in Berlin in 1933, only 1,200 survived the holocaust. One million inhabitants died or fled during the war. Over 30 square meters of the city were in ruins. This was followed by the splitting up into 4 zones and eventually the building of the wall. All of this was imprinted into the consciousness of the city. Many people have suppressed their emotional experience in order to survive. These forces are still active. Berlin is some kind of an acupuncture point that has its effects far beyond the borders of the city. If the collective field of Berlin relaxes, this will have an effect on the whole of Europe.

World Café

The "World Café" is a method used all over the world to create a living network of cooperative dialog and to expand the limits of combined thinking. We will be coming together in a light-hearted, Café-style atmosphere to share and exchange our unique perspectives. In this special setting, it is enough to stick to certain principles of dialog in order to let our collective creativity and higher intelligence emerge. The goal is not to find answers or solutions for the past, but to expand our awareness and modes of action in the here-and-now. For more information about the Café-method see www.theworldcafe.com.

Healing Meditation

The main point in the programme of the healing event is a long healing meditation for the field of consciousness in Berlin with Thomas Hübl. After a few introductory words, we will tune into the field of consciousness and we will go on a journey into our collective experience. Every participant will contribute to a greater awareness by simply being present, with compassion. Synchronizing our consciousness opens a channel into our higher consciousness, which will unfold its power through us and bring about insight, clarity and healing.

IV. FINANCES

All Healing Events are not-for-profit events. The association that organises them, the Global Awareness Association e. V., can do its work only thanks to the generous support of donors and benefactors.

The costs for the next healing event in Berlin are approx. EUR 15,000 (which includes the rent of the room, chairs, stage, technical equipment, the set-up of the World-Café, printing costs, adverts, office costs, speakers' expenses etc.). Every contribution is welcome. Support with know-how, material donations, or voluntary help is appreciated. We are happy to hear from any initiative that would like to form a network for a Synchronised Humanity, to exchange ideas and jointly with us to find new ways to bring this potential into the world.
